

m-libraries 101

This online seminar is designed to introduce you to what's happening right now with mobile tech. Featuring a presentation from Meredith Farkas and a panel of Australian m-library practitioners, this is the m-libraries event of 2010!

Seminar information

When you hear the phrase 'mobile libraries', do you instantly think of a bus full of books? Don't know your apps from your apes? This session is for you!

Meredith Farkas, author and biblioblogosphere authority on all things library tech, will join us live from Vermont for this introduction to mobile libraries. Meredith's presentation will have a practical focus and will introduce participants to what they can do right now with mobile tech.

We've also assembled a panel of Australian practitioners in the mobile library space, who will introduce you to the services and products their libraries deliver. You'll have an opportunity to draw on their experience in a question and answer session.

Seminar details

Venue: Online seminar
Date: 16 November 2010
Time: 9.30am - 12pm
Registration: Opening soon! Standard, professional membership and group rates available

For more information

Kate Davis, Associate Lecturer, Information Systems Discipline
p 07 3138 9387 | f 07 3138 1214 | e k3.davis@qut.edu.au

Presenter Meredith Farkas

Meredith Farkas is the Head of Instructional Initiatives at Norwich University in Vermont. She is also an adjunct faculty member at San Jose State University's School of Library and Information Science. Meredith is the author of the book Social software in libraries: building collaboration, communication and community online (Information Today, 2007) and writes the monthly column "Technology in Practice" for America Libraries. A 2006 Library Journal Mover and Shaker, Meredith was recently honoured with the 2009 LITA/Library Hi Tech award for Outstanding Communication in Library and Information Technology.

Save the date!
Registrations
opening soon!